Fourteen Seniors Chosen For Students' "Who's Who"

By VIRGINIA PINCHBECK

Enthusiasm High As Tri-Unit Wins In Spirited Song Contest

Colorfully clad in red and white, 78 per cent of the Tri-Unit turned out Saturday night to sign its way to victory in the song contest between dorms sponsored by Student Government and A.A. Westmoreland, which was combined with Hamlet House and Marye Hall, and Virginia received honorable mention as second and third respectively.

Miss Eva T. Eppes presented the winners with a plaque purchased from contributions by members of the Music Department. The judges, Mr. Ronald Faulkner, Mr. Harold Weiss, and Mr. Levin Houston III, based their decision on: quality of songs, 40%; presentation of songs, 10%; appearance of group, 10%; and number present, 40%.

Each dorm on the hill and the off-campus girls presented an original alma mater, marching song, and a variation of either the marching song or alma mater of the college.

The winning marching song, a peppy number—"Fight, fight, fight, for the blue and white"—was written by "Funny" Newbill with music by Irene Taylor, and words as follows:

Fight, fight, fight for the blue and white,
For the blue is as blue as the sky.
White, white, white for a school that's right
And a spirit do or die.
Hep, hep, hep and keep that pep;
Keep the colors furled on high.
Fight for Mary Washington—
You and I!

The original alma mater by Jean Crotty and music also by Irene Taylor was as follows:
To thee dear Alma Mater
We sing our praise to you,
High on Marye's hilltop
You stand forever true.
Born in truth and honor,
You evermore shall be
The model for our future years—
And all eternity.

When'er we have to leave thee,
We never shall forget
The lessons you have taught us,
And all the friends we've met.
And we, your loyal daughters,
Shall keep your name on high.
So here's to Mary Washington—
Our love will never die.

Westmoreland excelled in its variation of the M. W. C. marching song. Both they and the girls of Virginia, whose original alma mater was beautifully arranged, wore the college colors of blue and white.

A booklet is to be compiled containing all the songs presented at the contest, which will be an annual affair. The object was to get new songs, to stimulate school spirit, and to create interest in original song writing.

Showing much spirit and talent, the dorms provided an evening of fun that heartily recommended the continuance of song fests of that kind.

Camera Club

A Camera Club is being formed under the direction of Mr. William Luther McDermott for all those interested in photography. The first meeting will be held after convocation Wednesday, January 9, in Room 3 of the library.

Eugene Istomin Gives Sensational Program Here

Eugene Istomin, the husky young pianist who captivated M. W. C. students and townspeople alike at his Lyceum concert on Saturday evening, says he had his first taste of an "artist's life" when he was two weeks old. He toured the country then in a miniature wooden tub, while his parents gave concerts from New York to Florida. Eugene's father and mother are both professional singers, widely known in this country and in their native Russia. His father, George Istomin, a baritone from Kursk, met his wife, Ossa, on the concert stage in Kiev. Ossa was then a talented young soprano from Polatvia. The two were married in Kiev after a whirlwind courtship, and then toured Russia together, singing in opera, cabaret and concert hall. In 1919 they came to the United States.

Eugene is an only child and was born in New York on November 26, 1925. The first signs of his extraordinary musical talent made his parents believe they had another singer in the family. When he was six months old he hummed melodies he heard on the phonograph, in clear voice and in tune. When he was two the amazing boy sang countless arias and songs in Italian, French and Russia. Mrs. Istomin still cannot explain what made his interest change from voice to the piano. "He simply refused to sing at all when he was four years old," but when his mother crooned her famous gypsy melodies to him, he would run to the piano crying "wait, wait," and then would improvise accompaniments for her.

It was as "improvising accompanist" that Eugene made his first concert appearance. When he was six years old the boy had become so agile and imaginative at the piano (he still had had no lessons) that his mother allowed him to accompany her on the concert stage. She gave an entire recital of Gypsy songs in Brooklyn, while her young son did the honors at the piano.

Eugene began piano lessons the same year he began Public School, and characteristically he did not like either. Used to improvising and playing by ear, practice seemed cruel discipline to him, and formal schooling made a drab day for the boy who had traveled the country with his parents since he was two weeks old. Soon he began to cut his scales and arpeggios for a new interest. Every afternoon Eugene would go out to Central Park to play baseball with friends, while his practice on the piano dwindled to an hour a day at the most. While family friends were shocked, Eugene's parents kept silent. Soon they were pleased and rather proud of their son. The boy was good at baseball!

When he was ten years old young Istomin was enrolled at the Professional Children's School, one

Tillson Elected May Queen; Nancy Hite To be Maid of Honor

MISS SUSAN TILLSON

Sue Tillson, a blue-eyed, blonde senior from Annapolis, Maryland, has been chosen 1946 May Queen of Mary Washington College.

As for vital statistics—she will be 21 on March 21, weighs 125 lbs., and is five feet six inches tall. Her father is a captain in the Navy, which may explain her interest in that branch of the service.

Aside from her studies, Sue is a member of the German Club and a waitress in the dining hall. She is a science major with a minor in mathematics.

When she was a sophomore, she was in charge of the script for the benefit and wrote the songs "I Want a Man" and "Blue Book Blues," which are still popular with the seniors. This year she had charge of costumes for the senior benefit.

The Maid of Honor elected for the 1946 May Day Festival is Nancy Hite, a junior from Blackstone, Virginia. This 20-year-old commerce major has dark brown

Fourteen seniors of Mary Washington College have been chosen for Who's Who in American Colleges. They are as follows: Adair, Frances—Dietetics major from Pulaski, Va. She is vice-president of the Senior Class, Secretary of YWCA, and a member of German. She likes backstage work; to draw, and collects demitasse cups.

Bridges, Julia—Math major from Norfolk, Va., who enjoys sculpturing and swimming in the ocean. Besides being House President of Westmoreland, she is vice-president of Cap and Gown, and vice-president of the German Club, a member of Alpha Phi Sigma and Chi Beta Phi. Her nickname, incidentally, is "Cutie."

Brooks, Marion—Station Manager for WMWC, President of Alpha Psi Omega, President of Phi Sigma Kappa, and an active member in Mary Washington Players and Alpha Phi Sigma, is a native of Falmouth, Va. She loves dancing, is an ardent Shakespeare fan, and likes to write.

Campbell, Toni—likes riding and all sports, especially riding. This Math major from White Plains, N. Y. is President of A.A. vice-president of Cotillion, Captain of Cavalry, and a member of Cap and Gown, Chi Beta Phi, Alpha Phi Sigma, Hoodprints, and ex-officio of Student Government.

Earhart, Shelley—likes dogs and dancing and especially enjoys flying—in a plane. She is Editor-in-Chief of the Bulletin, a member of Alpha Phi Sigma, Canterbury Club, Cap and Gown, Players, and Science Club, and is from Philadelphia.

Harrison, Elizabeth—known to everyone as "Libba." This Commerce Major is President of the Senior Class, Secretary of Cap and Gown, a member of the executive committee of Red Cross, member of Sigma Tau Chi, Battlefield Staff, Alpha Phi Sigma, Cotillion, and Nurses' Aid Chairman. She comes from Crommy Md. and admits to being a knitting fiend.

Kienck, Dorothy—Science major from Plainfield, N. J. "Dossie" is President of Cap and Gown, Secretary of the Science Club, Secretary-Treasurer of Concert Dance Club, member of Terrapin Club, Alpha Phi Sigma, and Chi Beta Phi. The only thing she had rather do than eat is dance.

Lynch, Alice—is President of Alpha Phi Sigma, member of Cap and Gown, Chi Beta Phi, Science Club, Canterbury Club, Band, and Orchestra. Coming from Davisville, Pa., this science major just loves to play the clarinet.

Marsh, Lelia—a transfer last year from Virginia—Intermont Junior College in Bristol, is now President of Student Government, a member of Cap and Gown, Alpha Phi Sigma, historian of Glee Club, and a member of Y cabinet. Her hometown is Reedville, Va., and her special interest is singing.

Myers, Dorothy—otherwise called "Dee," is from Pittsburgh, Pa., a member of "Y" Cabinet, German Club and Alpha Phi Sigma. Interested in designing jewelry and playing tennis, her one great ambition is to ski.

Oquist, Virginia—from Farmington, Conn. holds the position of House President of Virginia Hall; she is also a member of Alpha Phi Sigma, Cap and Gown, and Athenaeum. Her main hobby is oil painting; and incidentally, she just received a beautiful die.

DEMOCRATIC CZECHOSLOVAK STUDENTS

Historic Charles University of Prague, the oldest university in Central Europe, founded in 1348 by the Emperor Charles IV, was closed for more than five years, along with all other Czechoslovak universities. Masaryk University in Brno was completely destroyed.

More than 60,000 students have flocked back to these reopened universities, with one-third of these between the ages of twenty-five and thirty-two. 1200 students languished in concentration camps from 1939 to 1945, and 800 joined them later. At least fifty percent of these imprisoned students need extended medical attention. The majority of the free students were active in the resistance movement. At least twenty percent of all students have contracted tuberculosis due to undernourishment and exposure. Students are now sleeping thirty to an overcrowded room on mattresses on the floor, without blankets and pillows.

The newly-organized Czechoslovak Union of Students, which was the host to an important international student conference in November in Prague, in a report to World Student Relief dated August 10, wrote: "We need books, every sort of scientific literature in the greatest possible number of copies. We need food and clothing for our students who paid with six years of imprisonment for their democratic ideals. We are sure to meet with understanding and help in the Western World which may enable us to master this enormous task."

Students suffer deprivations along with the general population. Weekly rations for the individual in Czechoslovakia are 3½ pounds black bread, ½ pint milk, 1½ ounces butter, 1 ounce fat, 3 ounces margarine, 1 egg, 1 pound sugar, 1½ ounces noodles, 3 ounces coffee, and 3½ pounds potatoes. 700,000 children are suffering from deficiency diseases, half of them from tuberculosis, according to Jan Masaryk, Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Funds collected from American students and professors by the World Student Service Fund help these Czechoslovak students along with students in all of the war-ravaged lands in Europe and Asia.

Sixty Enroll, Winter Quarter; Many Former Students Return

Sixty students have enrolled at Mary Washington this winter quarter. This list includes two town girls, one from Puerto Rico, and two from Panama. Present students will recognize the names of several returning classmates. The list is as follows:

Dr. Richard Bauer's Letter to Dr. Alvey

Dr. Richard H. Bauer, former Mary Washington history professor, who is now teaching in the American Army University in Europe.

Dear Dean Alvey:

Many thanks for your very kind letter of November 5. I was delighted to hear from you. Letters from back home, particularly those from my friends at Mary Washington College, are deeply appreciated.

Yes, I wish you were here with me. I am sure that you would find your experiences here, as I have, most interesting and stimulating. You would not only enjoy your contacts with our veterans in and out of the classroom, but also the opportunity to visit many interesting and historical places of Britain, most of which are within easy reach of Shrivensham. I wish I could take you along on some of our bicycle expeditions into the beautiful countryside, pointing out to you some of the historical places. Not far away is the birthplace of Alfred the Great and the place where he defeated the Danes. Thomas Hughes, author of "Tom Brown's School Days," lived in the neighboring village of Uffington. Nearby are the monolithic ruins of prehistoric days as well as an old Roman road leading to Bath.

In addition to visiting many cathedrals such as Winchester, Wells, Salisbury, Gloucester, Bristol, and Ely, I have made it a point to study the British school system. I have made many trips to Oxford, which is only a few miles away.

Two weeks ago I went to Cambridge, where Professor Trevelyan, the well known historian and master of King's College, which was founded by Henry VIII, graciously showed me around. I visited the rooms in which Sir Isaac Newton and Charles Darwin lived while students of King's College. Last Sunday I spent the day in Harrow, where one of England's foremost public schools is located. No less than six British prime ministers, including Winston Churchill, received their preparatory education at Harrow. While there I attended chapel, visited the classrooms, library, and the campus. Some months ago I visited Eton, Winchester College, and Malvern College. Before leaving England I hope to go to Rugby.

Since there is so much to do and so much to see, time has been passing very quickly. I can hardly realize that Christmas is just around the corner. From Monday to Friday I concentrate on my work at the university, and on week-ends I am away on trips. Incidentally, I have to get up right early each morning—a quarter past six to be exact. By 7 a. m. I have had breakfast and at 8 I have my first class.

Since there are very few American troops in the United Kingdom Base, Shrivensham American University will close next week. Our ambassador to London, Mr. Winant, will be here for our commencement exercises. In a few weeks the faculty will be transferred to the continent, where another university will be established nearer the army of occupation. I shall keep you informed of all develop-

Dr. Baker To Speak On Parliamentary Law

Dr. Elizabeth Baker, professor of English here, will speak about Parliamentary law on Wednesday, January 16, at 4 p. m. in Chamber 23. This first meeting will be held in order to decide a suitable time and place for other meetings. The Cap and Gown Club is sponsoring these meetings and has notified the presidents of all campus organizations. Everyone is welcome.

A knowledge and assurance in Parliamentary proceedings is many times a valuable asset and can be a short-cut in meetings.

Dr. Martin Returns To Teach Psychology

With an honorable-discharge button gleaming in the lapel of his suit, Dr. Charles K. Martin has returned to Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia. But it was just "Mary Washington," with nothing fancy attached when this professor of education donned navy blue in April, '42.

Dr. Martin is from Missouri, in birthplace if not in attitude, and when queried about his childhood, he called it uneventful, saying "I was never kicked in the face by a mule or anything like that." And a person doesn't need a second glance at the pleasant features of this new-old professor to be sure of such a statement.

In reply to the usual interview question of his liking for his new home, the former lieutenant-commander said he liked it very much. "It's just like coming back home, but I'd like it better if I could find a house for my family." His family, incidentally, is made up of his wife, Marguerite Peables Martin, a Mary Washington alumna, and his 3-year-old son, Charles III. Thus for the time being, Dr. Martin is a week-end commuter to Norfolk where his family must stay until living space is found for them in Fredericksburg.

Back in his home state, Dr. Martin attended Southwest Missouri State Teacher's College where he received his B. A. He was awarded his M. A. at the University of Missouri and received his Ph. D. from Yale University in 1939. With the ink still wet on his diploma, the new professor came to Mary Washington as an instructor in education and psychology. Three years later the professor was granted a military leave-of-absence whereupon he began his duties in the Naval Academy Preparatory School at Norfolk.

The remainder of his military service was spent in administrative work at the Destroyer Officer School, also in Norfolk.

In the course of the interview there were more questions: Interviewee: "Does there seem to be any difference between teaching here and in Norfolk?" (Silly question!)

Interviewee: "With 1700 ensigns exchanged for 1700 Mary Washington girls? I ask you if it's different!"

Interviewer: "Have you noticed many changes in the school since you've been back?"

Interviewee: "No, I haven't. The scenes that greeted me when I walked back on campus were so familiar it made me feel that the four years had been very short. I feel very much at home already."

• Y NOTES

'Y' Plans For Annual Benefit

Serene will be our days and bright,
And happy will our nature be,
When love is an unerring light,
And joy its own security.

W. Wordsworth
It's time for the "Y" Benefit again! Remember the good one last year? Well, she's done it again—you won't want to miss "Heartbeats," to be presented February 9 at 8:00 P. M. in Monroe auditorium. Talent from the entire campus will take part in it. Mark the date on your calendar now and watch for tickets to go on sale. Rehearsals start this week!

"Y" Cabinet misses one of its good workers this quarter. Janie Steele, Chairman of the Library Committee, has transferred to the University of Mississippi. Best of luck, Janie!

Cabinet meetings will be held in the "Y" Room at 7:00 P. M. Thursday this quarter instead of the usual 5:00 P. M.

Big Sisters, take note! A Big-Little Sister Tea will be held in the dome room of Seacobeck Hall Sunday afternoon, January 20 from 3:30 to 5:30 P. M.

Mr. Darter spoke to Cabinet at the last meeting of 1945 on the necessity of having immediate world federation. It is hoped that a committee on Public Affairs and Political Action may be organized sometime in the near future.

Miss Harrison Comes Here From Powers To Teach Phys. Ed.

A thundering herd of basketball enthusiasts was practicing in the Big Gym as a Bulletin reporter entered the physical education office to find Miss Virginia Harrison. Finally cornered in an office cubicle, Miss Harrison agreed to subject herself to an interview and here are the results:

First of all, as Mary Washington's newest phys. ed. instructor, Miss Harrison is on leave-of-absence from the John Robert Powers School of Modeling. This attractive young woman, who has done some modeling in her own right, held the position of "Director of Physical Education" for the three Powers schools located in New York, Philadelphia, and Pittsburgh. Her work here includes instruction in kinesiology (science of muscular movement), human anatomy, organization and administration of physical education, and hygiene.

In regard to her academic background, Miss Harrison graduated from the University of Wisconsin, received her M. A. at Columbia, and has studied further at New York University. Asked how she happened into her field of work, she replied: "Well, I've always liked sports, science, and people, and the three seemed to fit together into corrective physical education. Posture is my love, more or less."

The conversation inevitably led around to the kinesiology's work in New York. Not only has Miss Harrison had her picture made with Michael O'Shea, but she has met such celebrities as former Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, Lowell Thomas, Ray Milland, Robert Walker, and Peter Arno, the cartoonist. As to her work, she said: "The most interesting part is the thrill of seeing the change in the people with whom we work. It makes you feel like you've done it all yourself."

St. Louis is the birthplace of the new instructor, but in her own words "I've sorta' traveled around the country most of the time." Perhaps this traveling spirit is evidenced in the fact that Miss Harrison did field work in walking for her master's degree. She also had a paper on the same subject published in the Texas Physical Education Journal.

Former Instructor Receives Promotion

The promotion of Technician Third Grade of Mary C. Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Baker of 129 Jay Street, Freeport, New York, was announced recently at Mason General Hospital, Brentwood, New York, where she has been stationed since Nov. 1944 as an educational counselor.

Sgt. Baker enlisted in the Women's Army Corps in July 1944 at Hempstead, New York, and took her basic training at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia. She attended the School for Personnel Services in Lexington, Virginia. Her cousin, Technician Fifth Grade Alfred Lindley is with the Army in Leyte. Another cousin, Lt. Colonel Douglas W. Eiseaman is stationed in the Zone of the Interior.

Prior to her enlistment, Sgt. Baker was a professor of physical education at Mary Washington College, University of Virginia, Fredericksburg, Virginia.

John L. Pratt Gives 50 Economics Books To Trinkle Library

John L. Pratt of "Chatham" in Stafford County has presented approximately 50 recent and valuable books dealing with economics and labor economics to the E. Lee Trinkle Library, Dr. Combs and Dr. Quenzel have announced.

Mr. Pratt, an alumnus of the University of Virginia, was formerly executive vice president of the General Motors Company, is one of a number of Fredericksburg residents whose gifts of books have helped the library strengthen its holdings in the fields of economics, classics, philosophy, and literature. Dr. Quenzel said, stating also that the entire college community was grateful to these persons for their gifts.

Committee Chooses Winter Theme For January Promenade

The campus will again be swarming with men on the weekend of January 26, the date of the college promenade and tea dance. Music for the affair will be furnished by Sandy Martin and his orchestra, from Richmond. The tea dance, which will be held in Monroe Gym from 3:30 to 5:30, will have the title "Snow Follies," and the decorating motif will be a winter scene. The evening dance will be called "Winter Festival." The girls in the figure will be attired in white, in keeping with the theme.

A meeting was held in Monroe Auditorium for those who will attend the dance on Thursday, January 10, at which time the girls for the figure were chosen.

Members of the promenade committee are Mrs. Lake Cox Lee, Miss Margaret Swander, Miss Sally Jones, Miss Margery Arnold, and Miss Faith Johnson.

Miss Swander Plans Discussion Meetings On Senior Vocations

To assist seniors who are faced with the problem of finding employment after their graduation, Miss Margaret Swander, director of student personnel, has planned a series of group meetings to be held in January and February for the discussion of employment opportunities, methods of making applications for positions, and interviews with prospective employers.

In announcing the meetings Miss Swander said, "After the excitement of the holiday season is forgotten, the girls who will complete their work at Mary Washington College in the spring begin to wonder just what kind of a job they will have after they leave. There are so many questions about various types of positions open to college graduates that interest all of the group that a series of meetings will be given to answer some of their needs. These meetings will be held on Monday afternoons at 5 o'clock in Chandler, Room 11. The topics which will be discussed are as follows:

January 21—How to decide what kind of a job you want on the basis of your personality, intellectual interests, physical characteristics, and temperament.

January 28—Various ways of finding a job after you have decided the kind you want.

February 4—How to write letters of application.

February 11—How to prepare for an interview and how to conduct yourself when you are interviewed.

Although these meetings are being given for the special benefit of the seniors, any girl who is interested in the topics is welcome to attend any or all of the meetings."

'Winter Wonderland' Band Dance Planned For End Of January

The M. W. C. Band is holding its annual benefit in Monroe gym on January 19. The Dance Band will play for the dance which will be held from 7:30 p. m. until 10:00 p. m.

"Winter Wonderland" is their theme and the entire gym will be decorated in an appropriate winter motif. There will be an opportunity for the girls and their dates to have their pictures taken together. Betty Bane, manager of the Band benefit said, "Be sure and tell them to bring an extra quarter to have their pictures taken with their dates. They're going to be taken in a surprise setting."

Betty added, "It'll be a lot of fun with a wonderful door prize, especially with the background picture is going to have, so everybody be sure and come!"

There is going to be a door prize of an 8x10 enlargement of one of these pictures. Tickets for the benefit went on sale in the College Shop today at 25c each.

New Schedule, New Programs Announced For 1946 By WMWC

College Band Plays At All-Star Game In Washington, D. C.

Mary Washington College's 56 piece all-girl band played at the All Star game in Griffith Stadium, Washington, D. C., Saturday, December 15.

Two buses left the college campus at seven thirty Saturday morning during exam week, carrying 48 light-hearted musicians, 4 color guards, 3 twirlers and 1 drum major. They were accompanied by Dean Edward Alvey, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Faulkner.

During the half of the game between All-Prep and All High schools of Washington, the band proudly marched down the field. The outstanding feature of their performance was the formation of a rotating star in the center of the field while the girls sounded off with "Stardust."

Officials of the game arranged dinner at the Touchdown Club for members of the college band. Incidentally, the score was 6-6, tied again as the two teams have been for the past three years. The Marine Band and several high school bands also played at the game.

Commerce Professor Publishes Law Book

Mr. Charles of the Commerce Department has joined the ranks of M. W. C. professors who are the authors of college textbooks. Mr. Charles' most recent book, "College Law," was published on January 1 by the South-Western Publishing Company of Cincinnati. The book will be used as a text in college courses in commercial law.

Formerly a practicing attorney in Grundy, Va., Mr. Charles did his undergraduate work at Washington and Lee University and his graduate work at Blackstone College of Law and Temple University. Before joining the Mary Washington College faculty he was superintendent of an accounting division of the Heinz Manufacturing Company, a subsidiary of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

Riggs, Miriam—President of YWCA, her major is Commerce. She is a member of Cotillion, ex-officio of Student Government. "Mim" has a secret love of elephants and turtles, and claims Richmond, Va. as her hometown.

Sheehan, Rosemary—enjoys reading and people. This Landenberg, Pa. student is Editor-in-Chief of the Battlefield, and a member of Alpha Phi Sigma, Chi Beta Phi, and the Newman Club. Woodward, Bettie—who comes from Saluda, Va., is President of Chi Beta Phi, and of the Alumni Daughters Club, a member of Alpha Phi Sigma, and the Science Club. Her main interests are drawing, tennis, and dancing.

Miss Harrison Comes Here From Powers To Teach Phys. Ed.

Miss Harrison likes all kinds of dancing, all kinds of plays, and she "loves parties." She enjoys reading current books, and especially historical novels "because I'm lazy and like to do my learning and pleasure-reading at the same time."

"And by the way," she added as an afterthought, "I'm looking for an apartment and if anyone can assist me, I promise her a ham dinner."

"A slap, happy New Year, everybody!" (Apologies to Mr. Graves, of Junior Miss fame.) Anyhow, it is a new year as far as the paper is concerned—

And with the new year come new programs over station WMWC. Not only that, but a new time. From this time forward the 15-minute programs will begin at 4:15 over both WMWC and WFVA. Then from 4:30-4:35 will be news of going on in and around our campus. Following that, hit tunes of the day will be played for ten minutes. Or did you read the schedule?

Too, those lucky ones of you who don't have two o'clock classes, be sure to tune in to "Musical Masterpieces." You'll be delighted to hear the strains of classical music and the pieces that have lived from time immemorial and show no signs of dying now.

Three new members have been added to the beginning radio class. They are "Geri" Link and Janice Perry, both Sophomores, and Sue Cain, a Freshman from Alabama.

Here's an item that makes us a little professional. Ellen Bono, who is in charge of Recording for WMWC, has received her third-class operator's licence from the Federal Communications Commission in Washington. Nice going, Ellen!

Glance at the radio schedule a moment and you will see several items of interest if you can interpret it correctly. "Come On and Sing" is no less than the Westmoreland girls singing their original marching song and alma mater. Tri-Unit will have an opportunity the following week.

Who is Barbara? I'll tell you this much. She's a discovery of Betty Lewis Dormitory; so tune in Wednesday and "Meet Barbara." "Waiting for the Train to Come In?" Well, we all! Ann Miller, a Sophomore, has written a dramatic script about it. Wouldn't you like to hear it? It's really very simple; just turn your dial to 600—Radio Station WMWC.

What goes on in "Our Town?" Joan Goodie will tell you when she interviews Tommy Clark, Social Service Chairman on "X" Cabinet, next Monday, January 21.

Got a nose for news, an ear for entertainment, and a mind for music? Want to be satisfied? Turn in everyday to WMWC, your campus station "on the hill."

US-USSR Relations To Be Topic At Forum

United States-Russian Relations will be the topic Thursday night, January 17, when two students and two faculty members meet to discuss the matter at the monthly forum.

The forum will start promptly at seven and last one hour.

Individual squads had also been fervently drilling previous to that evening in hopes of winning the competition drill. Each squad had planned a drill and all squads performed admirably during the contest. A3 was the winning squad, commanded by Sgt. Ginny Schier. The knock out blow was administered, by Sgt. Schier and her squad, when Sgt. Schier made a mistake in a command and recovered the mistake with unusual exacting military poise. The winning squad was composed of Sgt. Schier, Cpl. Raye Plante, Pfc. Helena Feaster, Troopers: Anne Williams, Sarah Hayter, Pat Richards, Margaret Thompson, Prim Turner, Francis Houston, Dot Quinn, Jo Garnett, and Sue Womer. The prize was a luncheon in the "C" Shoppe given by Mr. Walther.

NEW STEED

A vacant box stall is now occupied, out at Oak Hill, by a new steed named Patrick. He has the conformation of an Irish hunter-terrier, no doubt, the title of Patrick. He is a bay horse standing sixteen-one and a half hands high and he has a good way of going. Among his accomplishments are the abilities of doing a bit of jumping and hunting. MWC Jocks like him and hope that he will become a permanent fixture out at Oak Hill.

Funny Newbill, Anne Everett, Susu Hoggard and Allison Bowen donned their new hunting caps and enjoyed a day in the field with the Oak Hill Hunt Club Saturday before last. They were mounted, respectively, on the following horses: Chic-a-linda, Sir Comet, Dynamite, and Cricket. The field was exceptionally large and the hunt ended when the fox was run to ground.

Seven Issued Bids To Alpha Psi Omega

Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic fraternity, has issued bids to four juniors, two seniors, and one professor to become members of that organization.

The initiates, chosen on points accumulated by work on various dramatic productions on our campus, are as follows: Seniors, Deiores Ambrose and Shirley Booth; Juniors, Betty Caum, Ellen Lane, Ruth Meyers, Virginia Pinchbeck; and Mr. E. Boyd Graves, instructor of elementary education and philosophy.

Eugene Istomin Gives Sensational Program

especially fitted for children of touring artists. When he and parents travelled now, the school sent him schedules of work and assignments by mail. The regular day of the school was a short and intensive one, starting at ten in the morning and over at 2 P. M. Thus the boy had time to study piano at the Mannes School, where his teacher was Ralph Wolfe. He studied theory and harmony with Constantine Shvedoff, arranger for the General Platoff Don Cossack Chorus, and with Boris Levenson. He still found time for ball games, swimming, tennis, and his passion of the moment—collecting autographs.

Eugene was graduated from the Professional Children's School when he was thirteen, and enrolled at the Curtis Institute of Music the following year, the fall of 1939. He took his entrance audition and found that his teachers were to be the noted Miecio Horoszowski, and the pianist he admired more than any other—Rudolph Serkin.

Serkin's young pupil had performed once over the radio with fellow Curtis students, once in public recital at the Ethical Culture School in Philadelphia, when in the spring of 1943 he won his first major prize, the Youth Contest of Philadelphia Orchestra. The award was an appearance as soloist with the orchestra in the Chopin F minor Concerto, under Eugene Ormandy, the following November. In the autumn of '43 he tried out for the Leventritt Award and, out of some 25 artists, all between 17 and 25 years, he won his second prize—an appearance with the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra under Artur Rodzinski at Carnegie Hall. His performance of the Brahms B flat Concerto No. 2 on November 21, (just four days after his Philadelphia engagement) was broadcast from coast to coast over the Columbia Broadcasting System, and he was reengaged for the following season.

Another immediate result of this sensational double-debut was that Adolph Busch, distinguished violinist and conductor, invited Istomin to be soloist at a Town Hall concert of his Little Symphony in March of 1944, and then to tour the country in '44-45 with the chamber orchestra. Eugene accepted with alacrity, and has continued to live the "artist's life" he began 20 years ago in his miniature wooden tub.
